SOME HERALD OPINIONS - SUSPENDED

SAVINGS BANK. The Third Avenue Savings Bank has suspended. The trustees have made application for the appointment of a Receiver. The exact standing of the bank at present is unknown. The report of the Superintendent of the Banking Department, in March last, showed the bank's resources to be $1,526,919 02, and its liabilities at $1,500,948 37, leaving a surplus of $26,960 65 in the bank's favor.

Owing to the large amount of real establishment of the superintendent of the Bank's favor.

Chicago, Sept. 30.—Everything is quiet to-day and most of the mills are running with a limited quantity of help, but an increase over yesterday. The prospects now are that all mills will be running with a full force on Monday. surplus of $26,000 65 in the bank's favor.

Owing to the large amount of real estate held by the bank it is impossible fully to realize its assets, as a forced sale of the real estate in the present condition of the market would not bring half its value. There are about eight thousand depositors, to whom the bank owes $1,849,000, from a statement of the Trustees. It is gathered that depositors need not expect more than fifty cents on the dollar, though the economical winding up of the bank's affairs may allow them seventy-five.

The Westwood Railroad. Ep. STAR: The indications of the times are such as to declare that private citizens have uc rights that a railroad corporation is bound to MR. MARCUS LESTER, of Wheeling, West Va., respect. But of all the outrages committed upon private rights, that perpetrated by what claims to be an incorporated company for building a narrow-gauge railroad out to Westwood, is the most brazen and unconscionable. It is well understood that the whole scheme of the corporation (if it is one) is to enable a few men to indulge in speculation with village lots. To this end a company has seize I upon, and taken forcible possession of, the property of individuals along the proposed route, without even the ceremony of asking lears or offering compensation. It is generally supposed that the Constitution of Ohio has ordained that when private property shall be taken for public use, a componsation shall first be made in money or first secured by a deposit of money; and such compensation shall be assessed by a jury."

But what cares this Westwood Company

propriate the public streets and highway to their own use without the vestige of authority, or even the common civility of usking permission.

When the citizens and property-holders who a c injured by their high-handed outrages, meet peaceably together to consuit and remonstrate against such violation of private rights, a band of men, hitherto in high stanting, and their employes, most of them notition residents nor property-holders of the vicinity, are summoned to be present, and under the lead of an attorney skilled in the rogue's law of Police Court practice, presented resolutions of approvat of the company's proceedings. And these resolutions, that in no manner ropresented the views of the citizens and property holders of the vicinity, were published by the same parties as the sense of the meeting then convened. So it becomes evident that what has been seized by the stone hand of violence these parties intend to hold by faischeed and audacity.

In presenting these outrages to the notice of the public, the residents affected thereby are not moved by opposition to the construction of a steam railroad from Westwoods their opposition arises from the violent and unlawful measures referted to, and from the serious obstruction which the proposed rank must cause to the highway travel in that direction. Approaching the intersection and crossing of the turnplike, this proposed railroad runs for one-third of a nule side by side with the lumpike, along which travel must be rendered exceedingly dangerous to human life by reason of frightenian forces by the locomotive. Moreover, this being upon a hillside, and ground a curve, the cagine can not be seen far enough in advance to be avoided by any one driving a yehiele on the turnplike, thus forming a trap into which the traveling public must inevitably fall, to the intuit, nent danger of heing dashed down a precipide by frightened horses. Nor is there any site street or highway whereby this driving along the law for the first shan road in the highs seaso was that they fear
